

LifeWise BIOTIC... nutritional care

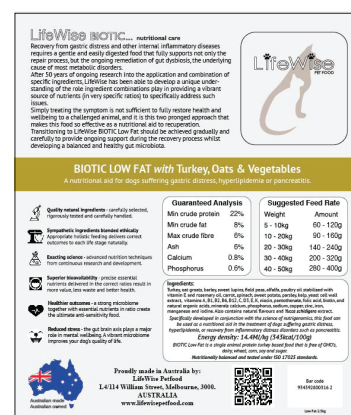

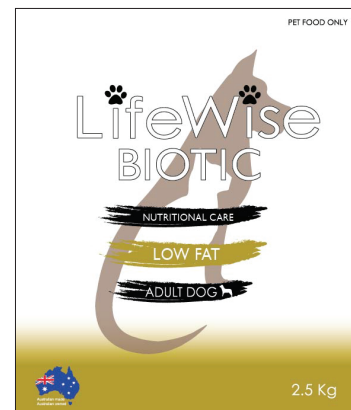

Low Fat

Built on a base of high-quality Turkey protein, this superbly balanced food contains a blend of essential nutrients that nourish the body whilst acting to reduce food based inflammatory responses. It can be fed whenever a reduced fat diet is indicated, and is particularly useful when animals are recovering from gastric distress, high blood fat disorders, or inflammatory disorders such as pancreatitis.

Researchers are now in agreement the underlying cause of inflammatory response disorders are a symptom of dysbiosis of the gut microbiome. Dysbiosis (dis-by-o-sis) is a reduction in microbial diversity in the gut which triggers an inappropriate immune system response. This response can be seen in a wide range of disorders such as pancreatitis, high blood fat levels, diabetes, some cancers, heart disease, and skin and gastrointestinal problems. Reversing this imbalance in the gut requires rebuilding microbial diversity, and this is achieved by feeding foods that encourage micro-organism development and species diversity.

Conventional food treatments often limit specific ingredients which disrupts the nutrient supply to the body in an attempt to reduce the effects of the disorder. Unfortunately, these dietary changes sometimes work against the rebuilding of the gut microbiome, so a lasting resolution to the initial problem can never be fully achieved.

The advanced LifeWise technology combines selected ingredients in specific ratios to support and promote the microbial population of the microbiome, thus reversing the underlying cause of dysbiosis. At the same time, the selected ingredients are blended to provide specific ratios of essential nutrients, vital to the repair of the affected organs of the body.

LifeWise BIOTIC Low Fat may be fed continuously where a reduced fat diet is recommended, or can be used as a transition food for dogs recovering from gastric upset.
